

Long Island Business NEWS

OCT. 15-21, 2010 | VOL. 57 | NO. 46 | $2.00 | libn.com

WHO'S WHO | in Women in Professional Services

By LISA MORRIS JOSEFAK

LAUREN KANTER

*Campolo, Middleton
& McCormick, LLP*

Lauren Kanter is an associate with Campolo, Middleton & McCormick, LLP and is practicing in the firm's litigation group.

While fewer job opportunities and stagnant wages have become the unwelcome trademarks of the current economy, today's difficult economy has also presented young women in the legal field with a unique opportunity to reach more clients, Kanter said.

"During a recession, the need for legal services in any branches of law only increases, allowing women in their field to broaden their areas of practice and assist a wider variety of clients in need of quality representation," she said.

"A difficult economy also presents women - new to the practice of law - an opportunity to demonstrate how their ability to relate to clients, while also getting the job done, adds tremendous value to their employers' bottom line," she said.

Kanter began her legal career as a legal assistant at a Westchester real estate practice and then at a boutique intellectual property firm in New York City.

Kanter graduated from Cornell University in Ithaca, where she earned a bachelor's degree in history, with distinction in all subjects. She earned a juris doctor with a Certificate of Concentration in International Law from Pace University School of Law in White Plains. While in law school, Kanter was a University Merit Scholar and also spend a semester abroad in London, studying domestic and international law.

Kanter is admitted to practice in New York State and is member of the New York Bar Association and the New York County Lawyers' Association.

Campolo, Middleton & McCormick, LLP is a full-service law firm with the expertise and experience to represent clients in a wide variety of legal matters including litigation and appeals, insurance defense, corporate & private equity, technology & IP, government relations, and employment and real estate law.

The firm has an established record of results for its clients, who range from individuals to global companies, and approaches each matter with a unique understanding of the issues and the highest level of integrity. It is experienced at developing and executing a legal strategy that includes negotiating and, if necessary, litigating the most complex and difficult issues.

Campolo, Middleton & McCormick keeps its clients fully informed to ensure that they are comfortable and understand the process during all phases of representation.